Thanks for contributing! You can leave a comment here for the admins to help with the validation process (e.g. gameplay videos, sources etc). On weekdays, our SLA is 24 hours for English contributions & 48 hours for localized contributions. During weekends and holidays, the SLA may be different (between 48-72 hours). Thank you!

Howdy! I realize this is my first contribution, but it's actually one I've considered quite thoroughly. Unfortunately, beyond citing my own experience as a discerning flight sim user of more than 15 years, I'm not exactly sure what is considered an authority, here. Instead of making my personal argument up front, I guess I'll reference PC Gamer's encyclopedia definition(?) of "flight simulator." "Hardware and software that models the behavior of airplanes and spacecraft. Flying a plane can be simulated in a regular computer with flight simulator software; however, pilots and astronauts learn how to fly in full-scale
